

Sharee Rines has been the trainer and policy writer for Georgia Adult Protective Services since 2010. Prior to taking her current position She gained field experience investigating abuse, neglect and exploitation for APS and case managing individuals under Guardianship in the Metro Atlanta area for 4 years. Sharee is an active member of NAPSA (National Adult Protective Services Association, currently Chair of the Communications Committee, sits on the Education committee as well as the Curriculum development subcommittee. She has worked with developer and other Aging staff to develop a smart phone app that educates APS staff, Law Enforcement and community members in Georgia about issues related to A/N/E and resources available to older adults and adults with disabilities. She is committed to the issues facing older adults and those with disabilities and works to assure that they can live safely in the setting of their choosing.